

Social Coaching

This counseling service focuses on reducing work-related behaviors that inhibit the individual's ability to successfully maintain employment. The Social Coach works to develop an individual's skills in conflict management, presentation, communication, reading social cues, coping, and impulse control. The goal is development of enhanced social, emotional, and vocational capacity to function on the job.