

Now Hiring

LJ&A Employment Counseling and Placement Services (LJ&A) provides employment support services to individuals with disabilities. Services are provided remotely and at community sites.

LJ&A is hiring for Employee Development Specialist (EDS) positions.

The EDS provides work-related assistance that job seekers need to become employed, learn the work, and maintain the job. The work of the EDS may include: Job coaching, work-based learning, and feedback as well as a range of services targeted to support both students and adults. Services result in individuals having positive employment experiences that lead to success in competitive employment settings.

The EDS works to address issues both on and away from the job site which may include transportation, workplace relationships, skill training, grooming, phone/electronics usage, and work procedures, employer expectations and career advancement.

EDS positions require flexibility to work on call and by assignment during day shifts, afternoons, evenings and week-ends. Locations vary. Training is provided.

Many of our assignments are for students that are after school, evenings and weekends. This would be an excellent part-time/second job for teaching assistants, Direct Support Professionals, Paraprofessionals and family members interested in providing services. Please feel welcome to contact us to learn more.

Pay range: $14 to $25 per hour, depending on experience. Travel-mileage reimbursement.

Please submit inquiry / resume to jobs@ljassociates.net, or call us at 651-481-0090
